

Run Over Free

Shape

The crows have come to steal my soul
And Faith
Taken to the kingdom where
Nightmares never let the lights get in
While they devour and rip my Dreams

Chill

I only feel alive when
I'm Asleep
The burden of Blame disappears
As for a while I'm not that scared of me
I let the thoughts run over free

River calls, as no one ever did
And miles away there might be a sea
Where any door has lost the key
And answers will not be revealed

So don't wake up, don't ever leave the dream
For there's nothing else there to see
For there's nothing else you can feel
Outside the landfill of this dream
