

Deep Down in Water (Pt. I)

Between me and the world I see
Ten thousand clouds
They all look like faces
I'm prepared to leave behind
In the blue belly of the river
I'll drown my heart with lights and stars

I Left down on your sill some photographs of us
the lost times
I swear those will be eternal to my heart
In the blue belly of the river
I'm flowing deep down in water
Streams hail to the ocean my sins (flowing back to the ocean)

Some would say I've been not the half of their desolation

Between me and the world I see
I trace a line
As I lay-down
My belly down in the blue I imagine you
Gloved in your daily races
While I'm flowing deep down in water
Streams hail to the ocean my sins (flowing back to the ocean)

Some would say I've been not the half of their desolation
